Public rejects killer junction safety plans

By Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

A VOCIFEROUS Axminster Guildhall crowd forced The Highways Agency back to the drawing board by rejecting a traffic sign-based proposal for the notorious A35 Hunters Lodge junction.

The Highways Agency presented the proposal, the main feature involving vehicle-activated signs that would warn motorists on the A35 about vehicles queueing at the junction, on Thursday July 31st.

Axminster Mayor Jeremy Walden had already predicted the proposal would be opposed, with locals wishing to see traffic lights installed instead.

Highways Agency asset manager Nigel Dyson started by giving a lengthy talk on the reason for the proposal and the history of the junction.

He was eventually interrupted by a member of the public, who shouted: "We would really like to know about the scheme, not civil service talk."

That set the tone for the rest of the evening and there was constant interruption from the the meeting.

Mr Dyson said that traffic lights had been ruled out because they would cause tailbacks of varying lengths in all directions.

A member of the public pointed out that, tailbacks or not, traffic lights would improve safety, which is the whole point of the improvement programme.

He said: "If there are traffic lights, people will know when it is safe to go."

Mollie is key to winning team

LOCAL schoolgirl Mollie Hansford, 17, has just returned victorious from competing in Australia as a member of the UK Tetrathlon team.

Mollie, who has competed in this event – comprising pistol shooting, swimming, running and riding – since the age of 8, underwent a rigorous selection process and was the youngest member of the team.

The UK Team travelled with other competitors from Ireland, USA, New Zealand and Australia for a tour of the Coral Coast of Western Australia, taking part in numerous activities including surfing, sand boarding kayaking and skydiving.

Returning to Perth for the International competition, Mollie exceeded expectations by scoring well in all 4 phases – including a maximum 500 score on her 2nd shoot target, and a fast, clear show jumping round to secure the UK's only maximum score in that phase.

A strong swim and run ensured a 4th place individually for Mollie and a convincing team win for the UK girls.

Public reject plans for killer junction

A VOCIFEROUS Axminster Guildhall crowd forced The Highways Agency back to the drawing board by rejecting a traffic sign-based proposal for the notorious A35 Hunters Lodge junction.

The Highways Agency presented the proposal, the main feature involving vehicle-activated signs that would warn motorists on the A35 about vehicles queueing at the junction, on Thursday July 31st.

Axminster Mayor Jeremy Walden had already predicted the proposal would be opposed, with locals wishing to see traffic lights installed instead.

A member of the public pointed out that, tailbacks or not, traffic lights would improve safety, which is the whole point of the improvement programme.

He said: "If there are traffic lights, people will know when it is safe to go."

The opposition to the traffic sign-based proposal was enormous.

Councillor Walden referred to a fatal accident at the junction last year, saying: "Could any of this have prevented the accident with two fatalities?"

He answered his own question by saying: "Unlikely."

MP Neil Parish, who was appointed Parliamentary Private Secretary to the Minister of State for Transport, the Rt Hon John Hayes MP last month, attended the meeting. He said: "In fairness to the Highways Agency, they have put a lot of work in and tried very hard - and whether we think we are professionals or not, we not always are."

From the deputy editor's chair

When will we feel the benefits?

IT SAYS a lot about how little time off my boss has when, after nearly two years as deputy editor, I'm finally deputising this column!

But with Philip away on a (brief) trip to Cornwall with his family, it falls on me to write what has become the traditional introduction to your favourite local newspaper.

In this week's Pulman's View, the story that sticks out for me is East Devon MP Hugo Swire praising his constituents for their efforts during the economic recovery.

Mr Swire said: "Thanks to the hard work of people in East Devon . . . the economy is now above its pre-crisis peak. It means more businesses creating more jobs, so families can look forward to a brighter, more secure future."

As a proud community newspaper, we have always aimed to bring our readers the more positive news stories (although, it has to be said, without shying away from the bad when necessary).

And whilst I wouldn't wish to knock the sentiments of Mr Swire's comments, how many of us can completely share his point of view?

Yes, the British economy did grow by 0.8 per cent during the second quarter of 2014, but how many of us are still earning no more – or even less – than when the recession began in 2008?

Yes, East Devon unemployment figures are falling, but they're still significantly higher than before the recession.

And how many people are stuck on 'zero hour' contracts – masking the real figures?

For those struggling to make ends meet and still hunting for work, such comments as Mr Swire's are of little comfort. Especially as they're nothing more than pre-election campaign sound bites.

Within the last two weeks, Pulman's View has reported on cuts to day care services, libraries, youth services, police station front desks, children's centre services and, of course, hospital beds.

So then, this recovery, Mr Swire – when are the people of East Devon actually going to see the benefits?

■ THERE have been a number of events in the area commemorating the outbreak of World War I over the last few days.

The reenactment of the boys from Beer marching off to war was a huge success and memorial events in Axminster attracted more than 200 people.

Even now, 100 years on, the bravery of the men who fought in the Great War has not – and will not – be forgotten.

HONITON

Police to tackle speeding problem

POLICE are looking for permanent solutions to the ongoing problem of speeding in Honiton and are targeting a series of key locations in a renewed bid to tackle offenders.

Officers have stepped up their efforts to clamp down on motoring offences in general, and drivers who break the speed limit are at the top of their list.

Angry residents flagged up Battishorne Way, High Street and New Street as particular speeding hotspots, during a series of police 'Have Your Say' surgeries in the spring.

And officers have been working with a number of agencies in an attempt to get to grips with the problem ahead of the summer – during which time offending rates tend to rise.

Honiton's Neighbourhood Beat Manager PC Steve Lee told Pulman's View the team is looking to take a long-term approach to the problem, but is already making "good progress".

He said: "We have listened to the public on this and they have told us where they think the problems are.

"Officers have been out and verified those reports and are now in the process of collecting data on speeding offences.

"We are not looking for a quick fix. Short-term solutions are very easy but we are working with other agencies to deal with the problem long term."

Police have added Sidmouth Road and Exeter Road to the list of target areas, and have also carried out traffic operations at Smeatharpe stadium in an attempt to catch out motorists who break the limit.

Teams have been conducting regular patrols using hi-tech equipment, and drivers are frequently being stopped and warned to slow down.

PC Lee added: "Our aim is to iron out the problem and there are a number of approaches we are considering. That could be extra painted markings on the roads, or more sleeping policemen – we have not ruled anything out at this stage.

"Rates of offences vary enormously and depend on circumstances. In some locations, like Battishorne Way, we find people speeding on the school run or on the way to work early in the morning. But it can be quite different in other places and at other times."

EAST DEVON

Local people boosting growth

HARD-working people in Sidmouth and across East Devon have helped to get the national economy growing again, local MP Hugo Swire has said.

Mr Swire claimed the latest figures show the British economy is now above its pre-crisis peak and is moving in the right direction again.

And welcoming the statistics, the East Devon MP paid tribute to those in Sidmouth and around his constituency in helping to boost growth.

Mr Swire heralded a "major milestone" in the long-term economic plan and pledged to deliver a prosperous future for local people.

He said: "Thanks to the hard work of people in East Devon and across Britain, the economy is now above its pre-crisis peak – a major milestone in the Conservatives' long-term economic plan.

"It means more businesses creating more jobs so families can look forward to a brighter, more secure future."

The MP said people in East Devon had suffered particularly during the financial crisis.

But claimed the latest figures showed that Sidmouth families could now look forward to the security of a regular pay packet and peace of mind for the future.

He added: "There is still a long way to go. The recession was one of the deepest of any major economy and cost Britain six years, hitting people in East Devon hard.

"Now we owe it to hardworking taxpayers not to repeat the mistakes of the past and instead to stick with the plan that is delivering economic security and a brighter future for all."

SEATON

Food bank shelves need topping up

THE shelves are almost completely empty at Food Bank in Seaton as volunteers have had the busiest month since opening almost two years ago.

The food bank provided more than 1,000 meals to families in need in the Seaton area in a four-week period.

Food Bank in Seaton secretary Simon d'Albertanson said: "The unprecedented demand together with a drop-in donations have lead to the current crisis, with significant amounts of food having to be bought by the management team each week to meet the on-going demand.

"Although the food bank does have limited finances these are only usually used in an emergency to top-up gaps in the store, not to refill whole empty shelves which is the case at the moment.

"Food Bank in Seaton is very grateful for the ongoing support of the community but is in immediate need of the items listed for the vital service to continue."

Food Bank in Seaton welcomes donations of none perishable food at the large Co-op and Tesco in Seaton.

Donations can also be made at any of the churches in Seaton, Axmouth and Beer and also at the Town Hall in Seaton.

the Mayor of Honiton, Councillor Peter Halse, the Deputy Mayor of Seaton, Councillor John Meakin and councillors Stan Williams and Michaela Ellis, representing Lyme Regis. Axminster town clerk Hilary Kirkcaldie and town councillors were also in attendance.

MP for Honiton and Tiverton, Mr Neil Parish, and county and district councillor Andrew Moulding were also present.

Representing the Armed Services were Colonel Geoff Nicholas (6 Rifles), Lt Col John Watkins (Royal Marines) and Group Captain Brian Lavender (RAF).

The service was conducted by the Reverend Geoffery Walsh, chaplain to the Axminster branch of the Royal British Legion, who gave the address. The congregation were welcomed by the Rector of Axminster, the Reverend John Streeting, and the Venerable Frank Johnson led prayers for the nation.

After the service the congregation made its way to the War Memorial on the Minster Green where they witnessed a touching ceremony, led by the Mayor, Jeremy Walden and Lord of The Manor Jim Rowe, in which around 60 children from the parish laid a single red rose on the memorial which lists all those Axminster men who lost their lives in World War I.

The Exhortation was delivered by the president of the Axminster branch of the Royal British Legion, Mr Ken Brake.

A wreath was also laid by the Deputy Lieutenant. It was handed to him by Emma, Sophie and William Vernon, all pupils of St Mary's Roman Catholic Primary School.

The event concluded with a reception for guests at Axminster Guildhall.

Councillor Symes described the event as "very moving" and thanked all those who assisted in the organisation, especially Bill Shepperd, secretary of the Axminster branch, and his wife Anne.

Call for traffic lights at Hunters Lodge

The opposition to the traffic sign-based proposal was enormous.

Councillor Walden referred to a fatal accident at the junction last year, saying: "Could any of this have prevented the accident with two fatalities?"

He answered his own question by saying: "Unlikely."

MP Neil Parish, who was appointed Parliamentary Private Secretary to the Minister of State for Transport, the Rt Hon John Hayes MP last month, attended the meeting.

He said: "In fairness to the Highways Agency, they have put a lot of work in and tried very hard - and whether we think we are professionals or not, we not always are."

About his new appointment, he said: "I don't carry the cheque book, so don't get to excited."

The proposal on the table had not been costed, but the cost of installing traffic lights was estimated at £600,000 plus two years ago.

There was confusion as to what would happen next. Mr Dyson was asked twice if the proposal on the table was a done deal or not.

He failed to give a 'yes' or 'no' answer. When asked for a third time in no uncertain terms by road safety campaigner Joy Raymond, it was mayor Walden who replied: "The proposal is not right, but traffic lights are.

Mr Parish followed-up by saying: "I want to endorse that, let's come back in four or five months and have costed a traffic lights system.

"We will work together on this," to which Mr Dyson said: "That sounds reasonable."

The possibility of extending a 40mph speed limit along a stretch of road and the installation of speed cameras will also be explored.

After the meeting Ms Raymond summed up by saying: "It was a very long and, at times, heated two-hour meeting.

"We demanded traffic lights and speed restrictions in the general area.

"After a lot of wrangling, with some excellent speakers in the audience, including Jeremy Walden, who made a clear and coherent case for lights, I am pleased that we finally got the message across loud and clear that we will not settle for anything less than traffic lights at Hunters Lodge.

"Mr Dyson and Neil Parish, at the very end of the meeting, assured us that the Highways Agency will go back to the drawing board and return in the autumn with a design and costings for traffic lights at Hunters Lodge.

"I feel that without our strong vociferous stand we would have been palmed off with more road paint and more signs.

"Thank you to everyone who came along, including local councillors and the press. "Please rest assured I will keep a very close eye on developments and we very much look forward to the next set of proposals which will be for traffic lights and safer road management at Hunters Lodge."

Tractor blaze causes disruption

A STRETCH of road near Honiton became engulfed in flames and thick black smoke last week, after a tractor and trailer carrying large amounts of hay caught alight.

Fire crews were called to the scene on the A375 between Honiton and Sidbury, just outside the Hare and Hounds pub on Wednesday afternoon (July 30th).

In dramatic scenes, firefighters used a range of specialist equipment to bring the blaze under control, but the tractor and trailer were completely destroyed.

A fire service spokesperson confirmed that crews were able to steadily control the fire, before handing the incident over the highways teams.

The spokesperson said: "On arrival, crews confirmed one tractor and trailer carrying large amounts of hay well alight.

"Crews used compressed air foam, two breathing apparatus sets and two hose reel jets to extinguish the fire, and requested the attendance of a water carrier due to the amounts of hay alight.

"Steady progress was made throughout the job, turning over and damping down the hay using drag forks.

"The highways agency was informed due to the damage to the road caused by the incident."

Reports suggested smoke could be seen for miles around the incident, but no one is believed to have been injured.

Robin's rally raises £9,000 for hospice

ORGANISERS of Robin's Road Run and Rally have raised more than £9,000 for a local charity.

Proceeds from the event, held at Woodbury Farm in Axminster earlier this month, will go towards the Exeter Hospice.

Mike and Jude Corbin, who organised the fundraiser, thanked all those involved in the event, which raised a total of £9,200 towards the cause.

And the hosts have already decided to repeat the rally next year, after a number of requests.

A souvenir DVD of the event, including a program, is available, priced at £14.99, with all proceeds going to charity.

Carl, who picked Macmillan because he knows people affected by cancer, had set himself a £100 target, but was up to £250 by the time his hair came off.

New pub landlords in battle with neighbours

ON A MISSION: Dawn and Malcolm

The new landlords of an Axminster pub and its neighbours are seeking to change its licence - but for very different reasons.

Castle Inn landlords Dawn and Malcolm Coleman are seeking to lift some restrictions whilst a group of angry neighbours are seeking to impose even more restrictions.

The pub has seen landlords come and go over the last few years, and has been shut for periods of time.

Following the most recent closure, owner Punch Taverns approached a Hampshire-based company, asking if it could take on the running of the pub and try to turn things around.

The company accepted the offer and installed Dawn and Malcolm, who have almost 80 years of experience in the trade between them, as landlords.

Dawn and Malcolm took over in May, but say there was instant opposition from many neighbours.

A group of neighbours attended Axminster Town Council on July 14th, seeking the council's support for a licence review.

Mayor Jeremy Walden relinquished his chairmanship as one employee of his business also works at Castle Inn.

Deputy mayor Douglas Hull chaired the debate and

by Anders Larsson

neighbours complained about noise and anti-social behaviour in and around the pub.

Neighbours said they had been in contact with Punch Taverns to no avail.

One complaint was that the outside drinking area does not shut at the stipulated times.

One neighbour said: "The behaviour, bad language and noise is unbearable."

Swearing and shouting

Another neighbour said: "I couldn't watch Wimbledon, they were outside swearing and shouting."

Councillor Andrew Moulding asked the neighbours if police had been called and could corroborate the claims.

He was told that police had been called on occasion.

When Pulman's View asked Devon and Cornwall Police, however, a spokesperson said the force had no registered logs relating to the pub since Dawn and Malcolm took over in May.

Axminster Town Council decided to support the neighbours' request for a licence review, and will also seek a meeting with Punch Taverns.

Dawn and Malcolm were unaware that the pub had been discussed at council, but felt it was unfair of the council to make a decision without seeking their side of the story.

Deputy mayor Douglas Hull explained the decision by telling Pulman's View: "The population came to us with a problem and we listened to what people had to say.

"There had been lots of complaints and it had come to a head.

"The residents, we understood, had been to Punch Taverns and not got any satisfaction."

Dawn and Malcolm are aware of past problems at the pub, but their ambition is to turn it into a family venue.

Dawn said: "I sympathise with the neighbours about what they had to endure in the past. But that was years ago."

She said the pub's licence has 24 restrictions, which is hampering trade.

Dawn said that live music, the jukebox and television must be cut off at 11.30pm - and the outdoor drinking area must close at 9pm (2pm on Sundays).

Dawn is adamant these rules are complied with, although the pub and its customers don't necessarily agree with them.

She said: "I have never seen a pub with so many restrictions. The 2pm [outdoor area] closure, for example, is restricting business. We are lucky to have three people here."

On noise in general, Dawn and Malcolm stressed the fact that the first thing they did was to build a foyer just inside the pub entrance to make sure that at least one door is shut at at all times.

Dawn added: "We are fighting for the locals who have been using this pub. Some have been using it for up to 50 years."

Malcolm said: "Not all neighbours are complaining. One direct neighbour has promised to write us a letter of support."

At the time of writing, there had been no correspondence between Axminster Town Council and Punch Taverns.

Get involved in the Neighbourhood Plan

ANYONE interested in Axminster's emerging Neighbourhood Plan should visit the guildhall on Thursday August 7th between 2pm and 8pm.

Work to create a plan is in its very early stages, and those behind it are keen for local people to play an active part by joining focus groups working on specific areas.

Neighbourhood Planning is a result of The Localism Act, and local communities are encouraged to produce a Neighbourhood Plan which, if it meets certain criteria, would become part of the Local Plan.

As such, it would carry weight in planning decisions affecting the neighbourhood/locality in question.

But before being approved, each plan would be subject to an independent examination and local referendum.

Axminster Town Council has successfully applied to designate the whole parish as a Neighbourhood Plan area.

Although the application was in the name of the town council, work to create the plan is led by Axminster Community Enterprise (ACE), which produced Vision of Axminster (Local Plan) in 2008.

A formal launch will take place in the Guildhall on August 7th, and organisers are keen for a big turnout, saying: "Axminster's population is set to grow by up to 50 per cent over the next 10-15 years.

"This needs to be done positively, with local people involved at every stage."

Anyone interested in getting involved, but unable to attend the launch, is asked to contact the town council for more information.

AXMINSTER COMMUNITY ENTERPRISE

invites you to the launch of

AXMINSTER'S NEIGHBOURHOOD PLAN

at the GUILDHALL, AXMINSTER

on Thursday 7th August from 2.00pm to 8.00pm

This is where YOU become involved.

We want the plan to truly represent what Axminster wants. Just drop in at anytime; speak to one of the members of our steering group and fill in the simple questionnaire.

Axminster's population is set to grow, by up to 50% over the next 15 years. We want to involve local people at every stage. Please come to the launch on Thursday 7th August. If you are unable to attend, please contact Jeremy Walden or Andrew Moulding so that we can include you in the consultations.

Please note that the plan covers the whole of the Axminster Parish, including Axminster Town, Millwey Rise, Weycroft and Raymonds Hill.

Pupils mark start of the Great War

THE last week of term saw pupils at Axminster Primary School turn back time during a combined Edwardian and Great War Day.

Period costume was the order of the the day on Thursday, July 17th.

The aim was to commemorate the start of The Great War and pupils experienced what life was like for a child during that era.

Apart from the clothing, pupils enjoyed special lessons on the subject and were also treated to an Edwardian school dinner consisting of turkey pie, mash, peas and green beans followed by sponge and custard.

On the same day, school helpers and volunteers were invited to cream tea, after which they could view a Great War exhibition put together by pupils.

Excellence award for Emily

Emily Wright won the 2014 Axminster Catenians Award for Excellence for St Mary's Primary School.

Axminster Catenians continue to support local Catholic schools through the awards scheme.

The pupil who – in the opinion of the headteacher and staff of each school – has provided an outstanding example to others of all round Christian values during their time in the school wins the award.

Axminster Catenians spokesperson Bill Stead said: "It is not directly related to academic or sporting achievements and is open to all pupils, including those who are not Catholics.

"The award takes the form of a large multi-year plaque for the school, inscribed with the winner's name, and a smaller plaque, together with a scroll, which the winner retains."

■ EXCELLENT: Axminster Catenians president Peter Westoby, Emily Wright and acting deputy head teacher Patrick Germscheid

Family cream tea for diamond couple

AXMINSTER couple Morrison and Margaret Brown have celebrated their diamond wedding anniversary.

The couple, who have four children, ten grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, celebrated the occasion with a family cream tea at Summer Lodge Hotel in Evershott.

Mr and Mrs Brown have lived in Axminster for more than 25 years. They were members and captains of Axe Cliff Golf Club and are now active members of Axminster Bowling Club.

They were joined for the celebrations by Mr Brown's brother Gordon and his wife Marjorie from Scotland along with Mrs Brown's cousin David with his two daughters from Hampshire.

Daughter Jane Lane said: "We are so proud of mum and dad and we had a wonderful sunny day."

Mr and Mrs Brown are pictured in the grounds of Summer Lodge Hotel proudly holding a card from the Queen.

Rallying call to traders to support Chamber events

By Anders Larsson
anders@tindlenews.co.uk

AXMINSTER Chamber of Commerce chairman Lisa Lyman has asked members to turn up for meetings and give some of their time, or projects won't be completed.

The chamber has a membership of almost 50, but the attendance at meetings usually only just manage to scrape into double figures.

Mrs Lyman, who used to work for an American chamber of commerce, introduced many changes when she took over in Axminster last year.

In an e-mail to members, dated July 28th, she wrote: "I have been chair for 10 months and I would like us to take stock of where we are. We have a total of 47 members but we had only 11 members attend our April meeting, Thirteen attended our AGM in May and six members attended our July meeting.

"When I agreed to take on the chair and re-organise the chamber, I said I would only do it if members actively participated.

"Membership has increased, I thought, in support of what we are trying to achieve. However, membership fees don't achieve very much on their own. Members' time, energy and expertise achieve a great deal more and are what we desperately need."

The chamber has a list of about 20 ongoing projects - ranging from liaising with/monitoring local authorities to developing chamber social media, producing town centre signs and preparing carnival and Christmas-related events - plus an on-hold list with a further eight projects.

Mrs Lyman also told members: "If you want the chamber to achieve the projects, but don't want to participate any time towards them, then they are unachievable.

"They are achievable if everyone gives a little bit of time.

"As a small example, many of you haven't entered your business or organisation details onto our new website launched in March."

Mrs Lyman, who owns Apple Tree Galleries, also asked for feedback, saying: "If you are not participating because the chamber is not meeting your expectations or requirements, or you would like the chamber to be structured in a different way, then I look forward to your ideas and suggestions.

"Whatever you think about the chamber, I would like a response from you."

As is tradition, the chamber won't meet in August. An update is expected during the September meeting.

Tea party for the TIC Friends

AXMINSTER Arts Cafe was heaving when the Friends of Axminster Tourist Information (TIC) gathered for a tea party.

The Friends of Axminster TIC was set up this spring when a new TIC committee was formed following the split with Axminster Chamber of Commerce.

TIC manager Jill Ruddick said: "The tea party is a way for us to say thank you those who joined to become friends."

The tea party goers were entertained by The Kroft Originals from Dalwood.

Jill added: "A big thank you to The Kroft Originals, who gave up their time to sing to get the tea party off with a bang."

The tea party was held on Wednesday July 30th.

Bloom judges do the rounds

by Anders Larsson

A TRIO of clipboard-wielding town councillors toured Seaton to judge all 17 entries to Seaton in Bloom.

The competition, organised by Seaton Town Council, comprises five categories - Best Small Front Garden, Best Medium Front Garden, Best Large Front Garden, Best Business Display and Best Communal Residential Area.

Town councillors Peter Burrows, Heather Sanham and Val Christmas spent much of July 24th judging the entries.

The winners will be announced during a presentation evening to be held on Thursday, August 21st at Eyre Court Hotel in Seaton.

The Best Business Display category was the most popular with five entries.

Top report for Beer Primary

STAFF and pupils at Beer Primary School are celebrating their second successive outstanding inspection report.

The last time inspectors from the school standards agency, Ofsted, visited Beer Primary School they judged the primary school as outstanding, which is the highest grade available.

In addition, a separate inspection by the Diocese of Exeter of the Church of England also deemed the school outstanding.

And, in a third success, Puffins Pre-School (which is located in the grounds of the primary school) hasbeen rated as good with outstanding features by Ofsted.

To celebrate, the new Bishop of Exeter, The Right Reverend Robert Atwell, visited the school and presented a certificate recording its outstanding judgement.

The Church of England inspector praised the school's strong emphasis on Christian values which he said made a significant contribution to the children's well-being and spiritual development.

Executive headteacher Martin O'Mahony said: "This is a great achievement for the school and also for the Ark Federation.

"The community of Beer has much to celebrate this week."

In its report on Puffins Pre-School, Ofsted said: "Excellent partnerships with parents and professionals enable staff to meet individual needs within a welcoming and stimulating environment.

"Staff help to prepare children very well for school by encouraging their independent skills and through effective links with school staff."

Pre-school leader Natalie Puddicombe said: "We are incredibly proud of our Ofsted report and it reflects the hard work of the staff and committee in ensuring the best possible education for our children.

"I am really pleased with how the transition into the primary school was an aspect that was celebrated, along with the strength of the parent partnership."

Beer's budding artists

AS THE Eclectic Studio's art class in Beer drew to a close, the children showed off their finished work with pride.

Last term they explored drawing, collage, mixed media and small scale sculpture.

Art teacher Monica Weber-Butler breaks down the making process into manageable steps as the children explore their creativity.

This approach lets the children grow in confidence and skill over the course of the term.

Children aged six to 11 are welcome to join the class in September. The cost per one hour session is £10 (all materials included).

For further information and to book a place please email monica weber.butler@me.com

New owners give shop a fresh start

by Kevin Fahey

THE new owners of Beer Village Stores, Roy and Cathy Lawless, are hoping to make a big splash after taking over the business.

The pair, with assistance from son Matthew, opened the doors last week after an extensive refurbishment that has breathed new light and life into the shop at the top of Fore Street.

"We have jumped into the deep end with this new venture as we have never had a retail business before," said Roy.

"It has been tough and we knew it would not be easy but with two of us to share the workload it helps. The customers have also been very supportive and helpful and we have had a very good reaction which is encouraging."

Roy and Cathy have worked for themselves from the past 15 years and most recently owned a communications business in the Somerset town of Wellington.

"Beer was our nearest seaside town so we used to come over on our days off and go fishing and enjoy the beach, so we knew the place well," added Roy, who also has two daughters.

"When we were looking for a new business we searched all along this coast from Wareham (in Dorset) but then spotted the shop available to lease in Beer and went for it.

"It has certainly been an interesting week; demanding but also very rewarding. People are not shy about telling us what they are looking for and we welcome any feedback because we are still in the process of restocking the shop and making sure we sell what people want."

The Beer Village Shop is currently open from 8am to 10pm, seven days a week.

ADVERTISER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

The Fore Street Tea Room celebrating their first year anniversary in Seaton

INVITING, friendly and quant, The Fore Street Tea Room is everything a small café should be. Serving all day breakfasts, hearty home cooked meals and desserts, as well as hot and cold snacks all day.

Proprietor Donna Redworth realised her dream when opening the doors of the Fore Street Tea Room. After learning her skills from a varied career in hospitality, catering, beauty and business management, she found an opportunity last year to embark on her new venture and hasn't looked back.

The response from the local community of Seaton has meant that the Fore Street Tea Room has expanded within the first year, with Donna also offering takeaway options for freshly made sandwiches, paninis, toasted sandwiches, home-made cakes and hot and cold beverages, telephone orders are welcome.

After customer requests and some market research Donna realised that a local meal delivery service is desired and often very much needed in the area. Using the facilities of her tearoom Donna now offers a free home delivery service within a 3-mile radius of Seaton (a small delivery charge is applied for those further afield) Since launching this much needed option Donna has expanded her menu to include delicious home cooked, quality frozen meals, as well as snacks and homemade cakes, which are delivered directly to the door; quality service is guaranteed. Popular favourites include shepherd's pie, lasagne, curries, casseroles and chilli. Vegetarian options are also available.

Donna would like to say a huge thank you to all of her loyal customers, many of which have now become friends, and she looks forward to welcoming new customers both to the tearoom and her meal delivery service.

Making safety part of the fun

How the RNLI are using activities and games to help families stay safer on the beach.

THIS summer, two thirds of us will head to UK beaches for sun, sandcastles and a splash in the brisk, British waters. But the sea can be unpredictable. Something young people especially need be aware of. In fact, RNLI Lifeguards helped over 9,500 children on and around UK beaches last year.

> "Nearly a third of all people rescued from UK beaches last year were children under 12 years old."

The RNLI is known for its volunteer lifeboat service, but the charity's lifeguard service is just as vital and provides safety to over 200 of the UK's busiest beaches. The lifeguard's duties include performing safety patrols, managing warning flags and rescuing people in trouble. It's a demanding job, requiring specialist training and tough fitness tests. Charitable donations from the public really make a difference to the service they provide.

Getting children beach smart in a fun way

While beach safety is a serious issue, RNLI lifeguards believe learning about it can be fun. This is particularly important for children, who respond to serious messages when delivered through games and activities. This year, the RNLI are helping children get beach smart, with free activity packs, including an identity snapband and waterproof pen (see the page opposite for details on how to get yours).

While children will love the snapband's bright colour and cartoon puffin motif, parents can use the indelible pen to write their name and mobile number on the inside, for peace of mind on crowded beaches. It's an approach they're committed to, through programmes like Swim Safe – a course run in partnership with the Amateur Swimming Association (England's national governing body for swimming) to help 7-14 year-olds become safe in and around open water.

Meet your local RNLI lifeguards

On many beaches throughout the summer, RNLI lifeguards run sandcastle competitions. These give children a chance to meet the lifeguards on patrol and get safety tips, while showing off their creative efforts.

It looks like it's going to be a fun summer. And thanks to the RNLI and its lifeguards, it's even easier to have a safe one.

To get your Beach Smart activity pack, text 'SMART' to 82727 or visit beachsmart.org/press

"It was a close call."

RNLI lifeguard Karen was on a routine patrol when she noticed something odd: a boy paddling on a sandbar, beyond the safety flag. Suddenly, he wasn't there. Immediately, she leapt into the water with her rescue tube, swimming around 30m to where the boy had disappeared. Diving down, she managed to reach the already-submerged youngster and pull him to safety. "It was a close call," she said later. "The boy wasn't aware of the strong currents, and couldn't swim."

Town volunteers offered 'Timebanking'

SEATON'S Town Development Team has been selected as one of only five Town Teams in the UK to be awarded the opportunity to take part in a national Timebanking scheme by the Association of Town Centre Managers.

The award, which is fully funded by the ATCM, means that the Town Development Team (TDT) will be able to offer any of its current volunteers – or new joiners – the chance to swap time undertaken on Town Development projects for other resources and skills locally, regionally or nationally.

For every hour a person or business 'spends' with the TDT Timebank (this could be anything from helping organise events, digging flowerbeds or picking up litter), that hour can then be 'cashed-in' for someone else's time and expertise.

No money changes hands. Everyone's time is equal. Businesses can swap under used resources and skills for support on things such as website design or PR help and more.

The TDT is hoping that the scheme will encourage volunteers to join.

"This is great news for Seaton," said Karin Frewin, who co-ordinates the TDT for Seaton Town Council,

"We now have something tangible to offer those volunteering for us on our many projects".

The pilot is run by Timebanking UK and will bring many benefits to the local area and community.

The Seaton team will become part of the national timebanking network, where nearly 300 time banks operate, sharing best practice and networking with others in the region.

Anyone wanting to join the Town Development Team should email towndevteam@gmail.com

■ THE Beer Group of Friends raised £1,500 for Cancer Research and the Seaton Hospital League of Friends' Home Nursing Service in their recent fundraising week.

The three events were held in six days starting with a table top sale and then followed by cream teas at Beer Sailing Club and a coffee morning at the Mariners Hall.

"It was a fantastic effort by everyone and the money will be split equally between the two charities," said spokeswoman Annie Boalch.

Shane wins Pooh sticks race

AFTER last year's Pooh sticks race was cancelled due to adverse weather, the 2014 event was held in perfect conditions.

The wind was blowing in the right direction and the tide was flowing downriver quickly for the Seaton Air Ambulance Week fundraiser.

This enabled the Pooh sticks to be dropped in the River Axe off the old concrete bridge at the start of the race.

After navigating the boats moored in the middle of the river, weed beds, shallows and the final bend, the first three sticks were retrieved from the river mouth by Bob Carswell.

The race was won by Shane Brown with stick number 273.

Former Legion president marks 90th birthday

HAPPY BIRTHDAY: MP Neil Parish, Axminster RBL chairman David Warner, former president John Glanville-Smith and Axminster RBL Women's Section chairman Lesley Frankau

AT their annual garden party, members of the Royal British Legion Axminster Women's Section celebrated the 90th birthday of former president of the town's main Legion branch, John Glanville-Smith.

About 55 people attended the afternoon tea, including MP Neil Parish, raising more than £300 for the Legion's ongoing work.

At a separate meeting, members of the women's section greeted two representatives of the British Red Cross, who presented slides to demonstrate the diverse work of the Red Cross throughout the world.

Inspired by Swiss businessman Henry Dunant, who founded the movement in 1863, around 90,000 volunteers assisted during World War I. During World War II, the British Red Cross and order of St John joined forces and formed the Joint War Organisation.

Their invaluable assistance continues today in many countries, providing a network of volunteers to respond to natural disasters, conflicts and individual emergencies. On the home front they give vital support wherever it is needed by vulnerable people.

Following the end of the talk, members were reminded about the Devon cream teas being held by RBL women's sections in the area.

Standard bearer Valerie Clarke represented the section, together with branch members, at the memorial dedication in Seaton in July.

There will be no further meetings until September, when the group will reconvene on September 12th for a quiz and bring and buy evening at 7.30pm in the Senior Citizens Rooms, Axminster. Visitors are always welcome.

Talk on World War II for museum volunteers

THE annual general meeting of the Axe Valley Heritage Association took place at the United Reformed Church Hall in Seaton on Thursday, July 17th.

The financial report for the year showed that the Axe Valley Museum at Seaton had had quite a successful year and the members were asked to make every effort in seeing that this continued through the current year.

The chairman, in his annual report, asked for a vote of thanks to all the volunteers who carry out stewarding duties at the museum and also thanked all those that gave their time in supporting the Association.

After the completion of business, a talk was given by Derek Stevens, a well-known local historian, who spoke about the outbreak of World War II and the arrival of many evacuees in Seaton and East Devon from London and other towns and cities around the country.

He regaled the audience with tales of the major events in the area during the six years of war, including aerial attacks by enemy aircraft, the housing of internees in the local Warners holiday camp and the billeting of many members of our allies fighting forces, in the area, in the run-up to D-day.

The chairman headed a vote of thanks to Derek, and finally reminded the audience that the new book by museum curator and secretary Ted Gosling, entitled "Seaton and East Devon in the Second World War", would be on sale from Thursday, July 24th.

Anybody wishing to take an interest in the Seaton Museum should contact Alan Nicholas on 01297 792212 for information.

theWI Women's Institutes ROUND UP

AXMINSTER has been back on the WI map for almost a year, but the group is keen to spread the message and increase membership.

Axminster WI closed down some time ago and, although there are several WIs in the surrounding area, the town itself was a blank spot.

That changed last year when a group of ladies formed Axe River WI, which meets in the Methodist Church Hall on the third Tuesday of each month from 7.30pm to 9.30pm.

President Anne Keane was involved with WIs when living in Leicestershire. She moved to Axminster a few years ago and helped to form Axe River WI.

She said: "Twenty-four members have signed up and paid subs, and we get many visitors. We hope membership will grow."

The WI Federation had a stand at the Axe Vale Festival in 2013, and many visitors asked about a WI in Axminster. One thing led to another and the Axe River WI held its inaugural meeting on November 19th last year.

Having settled into things, members are keen to raise the profile of Axe River WI.

Press officer Beverly Love said: "Any guest can come along for three meetings without having to commit to membership, so you don't have to decide as soon as you set foot in the door."

Potential members can call Anne Keane on 01297 598 953 for more information.

Entries up at Hawkchurch village show

THE village hall was packed with exhibitors and visitors for the award of prizes on at Hawkchurch annual flower, produce and craft show.

The overall number of entries was much higher than last year, particularly in the flower and cookery/preserves classes.

It was particularly pleasing that more people took up the challenge of creative flower arrangements to interpret the themes of "Village Fete" and a "Winner's Posy for the Commonwealth Games".

Hawkchurch Primary School provided a very colourful display of pen and wash pictures depicting creatures of the rain forest. The organisers are indebted to the judges whose expertise is much appreciated and the committee wishes to thank everyone for making this a successful village event.

The cups awarded were as follows: Baxter cup for vegetables/fruit: Mrs S. Baigent; Rose bowl for flowers: Mrs R. Blunt; Floral decoration: Mrs S. Lewers; Mini/small arrangement: Mrs S. Lewers; Pot plant: Mrs A. Lewis; Cookery and preserves: Mrs K. Peirce; Art: Mrs R. Ryan; Craft: Mrs G. Aronstam; Photography: Mr M. Peirce; Ballinger Cup for most points: Mrs S. Lewers; Best vegetable in show: Mrs B. Newton – potatoes; Best flower in show: Mrs A. Lewis – fuchsia; Best herb collection: Mrs R. Ryan; Child 8-10 Craft: Annabel Mackenny; Child 8-10 Cookery: Abbie Herbert.

Jumping for joy over SATs results

YEAR 6 pupils at St. Andrew's C of E Primary in Chardstock are celebrating another set of outstanding SATs results. The class once again achieved 100 per cent Level 4 in all areas and succeeded in reaching 100 per cent Level 5 in Maths. A school spokesperson said: "Several children also reached their own target of Level 6. "The teachers, staff and governors at the school are all very proud of the children's hard work."

Kilmington gardens open to the public

EIGHT gardens and the allotments in Kilmington will be open for the afternoons of August 9th and 10th.

Paul Dunsford of Kilmington Gardening Club said: "Half of these gardens have not opened to the public before, so this is a one-off opportunity to see beyond the garden fence.

"Round off your visit with a delicious cream tea in the village hall with proceeds going to St. Giles' Church."

Tickets (£5 combined entrance, children free) are available from the village hall, participating gardens at the weekend, or in advance from Paul Dunsford on 01297 33563. Tickets may be used on both afternoons.

Tools stolen from sheds

A NUMBER of garden tools and power tools were stolen when an outbuilding and a shed were broken into in Broadhayes, Stockland. The two break-ins happened between 9.45pm on Monday July 28th and 7.45am the following day. Police have appealed for information from anyone who may relevant information. Dower House Hotel

The friendly, family-run hotel is the 'in' place to go for those in the know

LYME Regis has a new No.1 hotel — since new owners took over the splendid 'baby grand' that is Dower House at Rousdon it has gone straight to the top of the charts as discerning visitors' favourite place to stay near the town.

Although not yet as well-known as other Lyme hotels, Dower House has become the 'in' place to go for those in the know, who are saying that staying in the elegant splendour and sumptuous comfort of the 11-bedroom mansion is 'like living the life of Gatsby'.

That's just one of the shower of compliments on Trip Advisor that Neil and Rosemarie Baker have received since March, when they bought the enchanting stately pile that was built by the aristocrats of the Peek family in the Victorian era when the baron needed a fine home for his dowager mother-in-law.

Dower House retains all of its aristocratic beauty still; four poster beds, chandeliers, huge sweeping lawns for croquet, magnificently-arcadian views, an open-air pool and a select seclusion; close enough to Lyme for all conveniences but sufficiently set back from it to give the exclusivity that its urbane guests prefer.

Movie producers, famous actresses and one of the moment's bigger TV stars have all discretely booked a stay at Dower House and this is where the Hix and River Cottage dining set choose when looking for a genteel yet cosmopolitan retreat during the autumnal and winter trips to Lyme that are becoming so popular with the increasing numbers of sophisticated young professionals now seen about the area.

'Dower House is not the biggest hotel in the area but it has all of the grandeur, it's a rather wonderful baby grand,' said Neil, 'We set out to provide our guests with bespoke hospitality, from the home-made cream teas to the best bed linen and we are delighted that this personal touch has so pleased so many who stay here.'

And please them it does — a remarkable 83% of recent guests have ranked it No.1, Lyme's top hotel in the Trip Adviser ratings.

Just last week a guest from Madrid wrote the following rave review of Dower House which is typical of the praise being piled on the Baker family who all work at hotel which has won further acclaim for its exactly-as-you-like-it breakfasts, private dining, the rarity of ample parking and dog-friendly ease :

'We spent a perfect few days at this hotel. Neil and Rosemarie did everything to make our stay easy and luxurious. We often ate in and we were delighted by the high quality food. The hotel is beautifully-situated with wonderfully-kept lawns and gardens and a private pool. We really thought we were living the life of Gatsby! I would recommend this lovely hotel to absolutely everyone; its location, 5-star quality and the flexibility of the owners make this the best hotel I have stayed at in years.'

The modern rooms are spotlessly-clean, airy and well-equipped and that, tied with the spontaneous, unstuffy welcome are what Neil and Rosemarie insisted upon when they set out to run a hotel the like of which these two former high fliers of business and government would want to stay at themselves.

'We wanted Dower House to have a family feel, both of our children work here with us, but also to be ultra-attentive to each guest's respective requirements,' said Rosemarie. 'Our aim is for every one of them to feel special, whether it be beside the pool or the deck bar in the summer or lounging on the deep sofas around the open fires when autumn draws in.'

And it's not only visitors who are turning to Dower House to be treated. Impressed by the winning combination of the large, glorious grounds and interior exclusivity, local brides and those arranging parties and private functions are booking the hotel that sleeps 30 as the ideal place for their perfect day.

'People are coming here for weddings, christenings and wakes, said Neil, 'we're big enough and yet boutique enough for groups to take over the whole house for events like reunions and anniversaries. People planning private parties at River Cottage are increasingly coming here because Dower House is so close to River Cottage HQ.'

It's quite something to go from scratch to No.1 in less than five months and quite something too for guests to leave praise like 'what a find!', 'wonderful', 'faultless' and 'so hospitable' on the Google guest book. The success story of another great asset for Lyme is just beginning.

Seaton & District Art Society

WWW.SEATONARTSSOCIETY.CO.UK

Saturday 9th August to Thursday 14th August, every day from 10am to 5.30pm

Seaton & District Art Society Exhibition

42nd Annual Exhibition

WHAT is generally considered to be the best art exhibition in the district will be taking place at Seaton Town Hall over the next six days – August 9th to August 14th (10am-5pm) when a large proportion of the talented membership will be showing and selling their work. SDAS, for short, has members living over a very wide area in this part of the world, from Exeter in the west to Chard & Taunton in the north and Lyme Regis in the east, not forgetting the many seaside towns and villages such as Branscombe, Beer, Sidmouth and Budleigh Salterton.

Among our newest members are Graham Watson from Honiton who is an art teacher and who works in acrylics and oils which are of a semi-abstract nature with a masterly use of colour and form, and Veronica Tosh from Budleigh who is a welcome addition to our workers in 3D. She works in ceramics making delightful tiles and plates as well as naturalistic representations of animals and people.

Adrian Ballantyne from Axminster is a recognised talent in paint and Rosemary Bentley, winner of so many prestigious awards, has recently completed in her usual style of perfection in miniature, a portrait of her grandmother. This is in complete contrast to the size of the work produced by Kenneth Appleton, who likes to work large, producing not only portraits but striking landscapes. His wife Joyce will be showing mosaic tables as well as paintings.

Mike Ilsley, on the other hand, is an expert in the handling of coloured pencils for drawing. Having recently returned from a holiday in the Western Isles, he has been working on some meticulous depictions of lobster pots and ancient stone walls, which are sure to be popular works in the Exhibition.

Artists who work in 3D include Anna Day-Lewis, well known for her beautifully executed terracotta figures, Mike Beach (who is also a much-collected painter)and his clever and humorous works in wood and paint, sculptor/painter Anna Mason and of course John Hilder (hares, dragons and birds like the stuff of legends). Viv Graham, our new Exhibition coordinator, creates unsettling vivid figures in wood and found objects, such as her latest – a man called Woody who in himself embodies the British woodland, consisting as he does of ash, oak and laurel, as well as buttons and wire and paint. Viv has been introduced to the traditions of the Seaton show by an old hand, Jan Charlesworth, who is stepping down to concentrate on her amazing embroideries. We must thank her for all her past hard work.

The Society goes from strength to strength, as we have now moved our monthly Monday demonstrations to Seaton Town Hall, where we are able to make use of screen and camera in order to give a much larger audience a close view of our expert demonstrators. We continue to have drawing groups for all those who wish to attend on the other Mondays (these at the Methodist Church Hall, sometimes with a model and sometimes with a still life).

Another of the Club's attractions are the occasional full-day workshops where experts in various media give tuition and advice. Recently some members have attended the very enjoyable and unorthodox "drawing" workshops held by Anna Mason where we learnt that drawing does not necessarily involve pencil and paper. Earlier in the year Mike Beach held his popular oil painting classes and later in the year Mike Ilsley will be instructing and advising on the use of coloured pencils. Anyone interested getting involved in this very active club should ring Secretary Mike Ilsley on 01297 553735 or come along to the Exhibition. As well as a feast for the eyes there will be home-made cakes and tea available. Entry will be by catalogue (50p each, children free).

We look forward to meeting you!

Separate council for Colyford could create fresh and democratic forum

■ I FELT it was a little unfair for Howard West's thoughtful discussion paper about Colyford to be described on last week's letters page as a "tantrum".

Having served alongside Howard on Colyton Parish Council before I became unwell, I can vouch for his monumental efforts for Colyford, and indeed those of Anne, his wife. Not least, the many hundreds of hours they put in to preserve the open land on the edge of Colyford. Without him, the view from the A3052 across the Axe Valley would have been lost forever.

The impression I have of the Colyford community is that it wants to just get on with projects and build on a sense of community which naturally flows from its geographical separation from Colyton. But for any proposal to be given the go-ahead by the parish council it first has to win over the four heads of committees, all of whom live in Colyton and are connected with the Colyton Feoffees. It is not contentious but merely stating a fact that the leadership's overwhelming focus is on the larger settlement where they all live.

If Colyford was to feel that its community's best interests would be served by having its own council, meeting in Colyford Memorial Hall, then that would seem most likely to deliver a transparent, fresh and democratic forum for the people of the village. This would hardly be Crimea breaking away from Ukraine; it would allow a well-motivated group of people to make more effective use of their considerable public service.

PAUL ARNOTT,
Colyton

Colyford independence should be put to referendum

■ HAVING lived in Colyford for over eight years I think the letter from Joan Freeland (Pulman's View, July 29th) accusing Howard West, Mayor of Colyford and member of Colyton Parish Council, of "throwing a tantrum" is insulting to say the least.

Howard and his wife Anne work hard for the village; for example on the Stop Line Way, the green wedge, the Goose Fayre and, last but not least, Colyford Memorial Hall, which after the refurbishment is arguably the best village hall in the area.

Of course, there are also hard working people in Colyton and many successful projects have been achieved, especially at the Peace Memorial Playing Fields, due to their efforts. However, I agree with Howard that perhaps the time has come for Colyford to become independent of Colyton and look after its own affairs.

There should be sensible discussions as to how this can be achieved, then the issue should be put to the residents of Colyford in a referendum.

Is Seaton's Jurassic Centre worth £4million

■ IS the Jurassic Centre worth £4 million? Why were Seaton residents not given the opportunity to vote on it?

Would it not be logical to purchase the Woolworths premises to house the Jurassic/Wetlands Centre and our existing museum? I am sure the cost would be less than £4 million. Why did Exmouth decline?

Of the estimated 70,000 visitors, a very large number will arrive by coach, yet we only have six coach parking spaces.

The proposed Jurassic Centre development at Portland is likely to reduce the impact of a centre in Seaton. I am sure the organisations that kindly donated the funds would appreciate the money saved, and would help other worthy causes.

Seabrook House plans are 'architectural vandalism'

■ OBJECTORS to the proposal to add a fourth storey to Seabrook House, Old Beer Road, Seaton (Pulman's View, July 22nd) are concerned about more than the overlooking of neighbouring houses and gardens.

Seaton Town Council, all Seaton district councillors and almost all residents oppose this application because it will create an overbearing building which will be out of keeping with the area and out of scale with its neighbours. It also proposes excavating an underground pool in an area notorious for landslips.

East Devon planners apparently believe it's OK to have a four-storey building only six metres from a two-storey Victorian villa but the neighbours on both sides who will have to live with it find the prospect oppressive.

Seaton Hole is one of the most beautiful historic parts of Seaton, visited by tens of thousands each year, and this proposal is an act of architectural vandalism. What was the point of the Seaton Town Design Statement, which EDDC adopted, if its principles can be disregarded in this way?

MARTIN SHAW

Fear over the future of public services

■ THE front page of the Tuesday, July 22nd edition of Pulman's View from Honiton raised the spectre of the effect on local services of the need for the nation to aim to live within its means.

Then in the national press this week there is the news that a NHS computer system was scrapped for a loss of £620million, followed by the £350million loss on the scrapped Home Office immigration case work system, and last week the MOF wasted £40million on a scrapped system.

Then there was the announcement that there is an annual cost of £150million for "healthcare tourists" who come here for free midwifery.

From this staggering waste of the taxpayers hard earned money by the public sector one can but feel that, without this waste, there could in fact be plenty of funds available for public services. But this requires Sir Humphrey to get rid of the incompetents and insist on value for money in the public sector.

Plans to close toilets are completely potty!

■ WE were visiting Branscombe when we were caught short by a notice.

We were extremely inconvenienced on reading about the plans to close the toilets in Branscombe (last attempted in 2005). This must surely be a very short sighted suggestion, for these reasons:

Number one – People who go to this beach really appreciate the amenities and would be desperate to find they were not available.

Number two – If visitors are put off from coming for the day, then local traders will suffer as people will do their business elsewhere.

We have come to the conclusion that you must be bogged down with administration and could be spending your pennies more wisely, either that or you are all completely potty!

We would be enormously relieved if you would reconsider this decision.

SUE WORTH AND FAMILY,
Greenclose Court, Colyton

Pulman's View from the churches

With NIGEL SPELLER

WITH the important decision for Anglicans now made by the General Synod, it is time to report reflections. Archbishop Welby has written to Pope Francis urging him not to let the ordination of women prevent the eventual reunification of Anglicans and Roman Catholics.

In a letter to the Pope and other church leaders he has asked for prayers for the Church of England, reminding them that 'we need each other'.

There has been a mixed response by other churches to the General Synod vote. Archbishop Bernard Langley, chairman of the Catholic Bishops' Conference, commented that sadly the decision places a further obstacle to the path of Christian Unity. The editor of the Vatican newspapers observes that the decision makes a negative impact on bringing the two churches together.

Other churches have given a positive response, in particular the president of the Methodist Conference. The Baptist church has also 'welcomed their Anglican friends on having such wisdom'.

Similar remarks came from the United Reformed Church. The Russian Orthodox Church was outspoken in condemning the decision but would remain in contact and hoped its voice would be heard.

In a further interview Archbishop Welby, asks for prayers for wisdom to know what to do, for patience, and lastly for courage to do something when the going is rough. See the Collect for Sunday 6th after Trinity BCP.

Fr John, Rector of the Axe Valley Mission Community, writes: There is great excitement at the Minster this week as stage one of the restoration and repair after the fire damage at begins.

We have been enormously heartened in recent months by the extent of good will and generosity there has been since the fire and it has given us added impetus to get on with the much needed restoration of our lovely medieval building.

We have a number of initiatives to raise money for the project, the latest was a sponsored walk entitled the 'Axe Amble' on Bank Holiday Monday - a 5 mile walk along the river. Many thanks for all the support. Watch out for others.

Ottery's United Reformed Church will be covered in scaffolding as work to repair the roof begins. The work is expected to finish in November but in the meantime services are as usual at 10:30am on Sundays.

Our new Salvation Army officer Lieutenant Chris Baker is now in place in Ottery. The Parish Church is open for all, services as usual. Messy Church is at 4pm on August 11th and the monthly Mothers' Union meeting is at 2:30pm on the 12th.

Preparations are well advanced for the Flower Festival, Parables and Praise, from September 18th-21st, so put it in your diaries. All welcome.

Tuesday, August 5th: Spiritual chat group meets 7:20-9pm, Axminster – enquiries 01297 35448.

The result of the East Devon striking competition has been announced with Honiton Bell Ringers the winners of the Edward Summers Memorial Trophy for the second year in a row. Farway were runners-up and Combe Raleigh third.

Seaton Food Bank has launched an appeal for more donations, as demand is heavy. Details of needs can be obtained by calling 07598 927997 or foodbankseaton@gmail.com.

With recognition of the start date of World War I on Monday, August 4th many local churches opened for that day and marked the event in various ways including dedication services, exhibitions, talks and refreshments.

Other ways of celebrating the event included a candlelit vigil from 10-11pm at the Minster in Axminster.

At Combpyne-Rousdon a lights out vigil ran from 10:30pm to 11pm at the Rousdon memorial.

The opportunity has also been taken in certain local places to look again at the possible repairs to war memorials and such like, and means of funding.

The August edition of the digital Church of England Devon Magazine and Prayer Diary, replacing the former-Church of England news which was circulated often with parish magazines, has now appeared in a second edition.

The new magazine can be found by visiting (and locally still be included with parish magazines if desired) http://bit.ly/1nu2SUe

Councillors committed to flood prevention

■ I READ with interest your front page article in Pulman's View from Axminster (July 22nd) entitled "Frustrating delay on flood prevention plan".

I always believed that this particular project was going to take some time, but was also concerned that when any project is handed over to a sub-committee or working group in any organisation, there is a chance of delays or even the risk of it being forgotten.

However, having been in regular contact with our local town councillors on this matter, I believe that they are committed to bringing this project to a satisfactory conclusion as soon as possible.

In the meantime, in the absence of any improvement to the culvert under Willhaye Lane, I feel that the regular maintenance of the Millbrook watercourse is as important as ever.

Since the flooding in July 2012, our town councillors have been active in ensuring that East Devon District Council have removed gravel and cut back overgrown vegetation to ensure the free flow of water.

I believe that as long as this process continues, we will have a reasonable degree of protection from further flooding.

The autumn will soon be upon us when vegetation growth is most abundant and the prospect of heavy rainfall increases. Maybe this is the best time for the Millbrook to have its annual clean-up?

Congratulations to 'The Card Shop'

■ MAY I be one of many who support the outstanding independent shops in the heart of Seaton to congratulate "The Card Shop", as it is affectionately known, on winning the best independent local shop in Seaton this year?

Let's go on supporting it in the even greater national final.

Kerry and Lynda did a grand job for 20 years, providing more than just a huge variety of cards; namely calendars, maps and a delightful range of novelty gifts for young and old, party items, etc. and supporting local artists and charities. A first rate service with a smile.

Emma and Stephen Grigg and Lyndsey have continued in the same vein with imagination and style. Well done!

There are many other lovely, niche, independent shops in Seaton, providing quality and bargain goods. Well done to them too. It is up to them to give them our full support.

In welcoming visitors in one of our very pleasant cafes in Fore Street, they told me what a lovely town we have; so clean and beautiful compared with their hometown of Bournemouth, now so scruffy and dirty.

I'd also like to congratulate our local gardeners, both the very hardworking volunteers with their fabulous tubs, and the local council employees with their more formal beds, etc. The sheer exuberance of flowers and contrast of colours take one's breath away. The formla beds are always stunning but when you see the wild flower beds you can only say 'wow!'

Stop, stand and stare and drink in the sheer delight and joy they bring. Thank you all so much.

JANET LANG,
Wessiters, Seaton

Could Bovis clarify what they are doing with sand bags?

■ AM I correct in thinking that the white sand bags at the Bovis Homes development site off Harbour Road extend across the whole of the area at present raised to a very great height (some six metres)?

Perhaps Bovis could clarify this through your excellent local newspaper, with reference to the photograph on page 4 of Pulman's View From Seaton, July 22nd. The mystery is far from solved.

Pebblebed is hosting the event at their vineyard in Clyst St George, near Exeter, on September 13/14. Adam Isaac, who made it through to the quarter final stages of BBC's The Voice, with Sir Tom Jones as coach, will be opening the event.

Hospiscare's Ann Blake said: "This is an exciting new event and will be a fantastic weekend of entertainment, showcasing some of Devon's finest wines."

Other artists performing on the Saturday are Julian Piper and Band - internationally recognised blues, local band King Shambles and Gobi, an energetic brass band.

On Sunday the line up is: Sam Piper, rock singer/songwriter from Exeter, Wildwood Kin, winners of the Open Mic UK, Chris Hoburn, acoustic player and closing the festival is folk singer Steve Knightley.

Other vineyards taking part include: Sharpham, Manstree, Yearlestone, Kenton and Lily Farm.

The event is raising funds for local charity Hospiscare which provides free and specialised nursing to terminally ill people in Exeter, Mid and East Devon. Hospiscare looks after 700 patients and their families at any one time and needs to raise £4.5m annually to do this.

Tickets are available by calling 01392 688 020 or visit www.hospiscare.co.uk

Sidmouth Folk Festival celebrates six decades

FESTIVAL fans in Sidmouth are celebrating six decades of the town's famous Folk Week, with events on around the town.

Organisers have pulled out all the stops to mark the festival's Diamond Anniversary, and more than 700 events have been planned for the annual music extravaganza.

With performances ranging from headline concerts to intimate sessions, festival bosses have aimed to provide something for everyone at this year's Folk Week, and organisers are promising a festival to remember for many years to come.

Alongside the music, there will also be displays and processions, workshops and talks, ceilidhs, social dances and much more.

Events get underway on Thursday evening with a pre-festival concert from festival veteran Ralph McTell on the Ham, with other performances from Aly Bain and Phil Cunningham, Cara Dillon and Steve Knightley on stage over the weekend.

Concerts take place in the Ham Marquee at 12noon, 3.15pm and 8pm daily throughout the week, and there will be a string of top musical talent performing at the Festival Clubhouse at the Bulverton.

Carinas nightclub will also be serving up a series of shows courtesy of fRoots magazine, under the 'A Cellar Full of Folkadelia' banner, between 3pm and 5pm from Sunday through to Thursday.

High-energy evening ceilidhs have been lined up for each night of the festival at the Blackmore Gardens, starting at 7.30pm.

And the gardens will also be the hub of the children's festival, with wall-to-wall workshops as well as concerts, dances and other entertainments for all the family.

The spectacular Folk Week 60th anniversary celebrations will be rounded off with a torchlight procession and firework finale on the Esplanade from 10pm to 11pm on Friday (August 8th).

Show home coming soon to Cloakham Lawns

A NEW part of the community is taking shape in Axminster, with homes now being built and bought at Cloakham Lawns.

The Bovis Homes development is already proving popular with home seekers, with a number of quality new homes being bought off plan through the summer.

Sales Advisor Sarah Tricker has been based in Morgan York Estate Agents since February and has had a busy time, meeting Axminster home buyers and explaining the vision for the exciting new neighbourhood, which will include a broad mix of homes to attract all kinds of purchasers.

Soon Sarah will be able to demonstrate that vision first hand when the show home is completed this summer, along with a new sales office and view home, which will highlight the quality that Bovis Homes will be offering at Cloakham Lawns, along with the all-inclusive specification that many other house builders can't match.

"I can't wait for the launch of our show home, view home and sales centre so I can really show off our amazing properties," said Sarah. "They will showcase the quality of build and finish that you get with a Bovis Home and give a real feel of what it will be like living at Cloakham Lawns.

"What's more, the Bovis Homes specification, with integrated kitchen appliances and built-in wardrobes to the master bedrooms included in the price, is always a big hit with our customers. I'll be delighted to explain exactly what you get for your money to visitors, and also highlight the range of purchase assistance schemes available to help people land their dream home."

These include the Government-backed Help to Buy Equity scheme, a unique shared equity scheme for first-time buyers AND current homeowners where the customer pays a 5% deposit and the Government supplies a 20% equity loan – leaving just a 75% mortgage required.

And for those existing home owners looking to move up the property ladder, but struggling to sell their property, the Home Exchange package could be just the thing. Bovis Homes could buy your old house, allowing you to move into your brand new house at Cloakham Lawns and helping keep the stress and expense associated with property chains at bay.

The on-site sales complex, which will include a Southwold show home and a Sheringham view home, both three bed properties, is due to open at the end of August, a key milestone in the history of a development which will evolve with a mix of traditional stone buildings and contemporary homes.

Visit Sarah at Morgan York Estate Agents or call 07879 422319 for more information.

WHY USE AN ARLA AGENT

Symonds & Sampson are an ARLA (Association of Residential Letting Agents) licensed agent, the principal regulatory body of the industry.

There is currently no mandatory regulation of letting and property management agents in the UK and every year thousands of pounds of Tenant's and Landlord's money is lost to unlicensed agents who do not have protective measures in place to guarantee their clients' money. By choosing Symonds & Sampson, who are ARLA licensed as well as being members of RICS, Landlords and Tenants can be confident that their money is protected by the Client Money Protection Scheme together with Professional indemnity Insurance.

ARLA licensed agents have qualified staff who are required to keep up to date with the latest developments in the market and the ever-changing legislation – Symonds & Sampson are very pro-active in this area, sending all members of their regional lettings teams on ARLA training courses each year.

As a licensed firm Symonds & Sampson also have to comply with a Code of Practice and Rules of Conduct, ensuring Landlords and Tenants receive excellent service and are dealt with in a fair and professional manner.

SPOTLIGHT ON MY SERVICE

Avid Move

Moving Home, Moving Office, Moving Anything?

Moving home, it really can be a stressful experience, something that most of us have experienced at some point. Our goal is to make the experience as stress fee as possible. We truly believe the service we offer is that little bit different. Every van is fully equipped with mattress covers, carpet protectors, wardrobe boxes and the tools to dismantle and reassemble virtually anything and we are the only local company that subscribes to the Ombudsman Service code of conduct.

We have moved hot tubs, juke boxes, pianos and safes. Lowered items through second floor windows, moved large offices, small flats, farmhouses and bungalows and pretty much everything in-between but all with the same level of care and attention to detail. But don't take our word for it see some of our client reviews and case studies on our website or contact us for more information.

Fantastic '64–Plate' Offers From Peugeot: There's Never Been a Better Time to Buy

▲ Fantastic '64–Plate' offers from PEUGEOT

WITH one of the youngest new car ranges on the market, offering an appealing mix of sophisticated style and value for money, there's never been a better time to buy a PEUGEOT.

With the launch of the new 64-registration plate, the Brand's Dealers are bracing themselves for a busy August and September – and PEUGEOT have announced a range of attractive offers to further boost showroom traffic.

Thanks to the debut of the PEUGEOT 308 – the reigning European Car of the Year – as well as the continued success of the 208 Supermini and 2008 Compact Crossover, PEUGEOT retail sales are up 17.5% year-to-date (YTD), in a market that is 13.9% up YTD, compared with 2013. The arrival of the all-new PEUGEOT 108 in showrooms is expected to enhance Dealer performance even more, and strengthen PEUGEOT's visibility in the vital city car segment.

The all-new PEUGEOT 108, that characterful new urban runabout that went on sale from 1st July, opens a new chapter for PEUGEOT small cars. High on style, bristling with connected technology and fun to drive, it's available with a TOP! Cabrio retractable roof and takes personalisation to a new level.

Significant demand for the 108 will come via the brand's unique Just Add Fuel initiative (JAF), the three-year low-APR personal lease which rolls all the customer's monthly costs into one easy payment. JAF includes insurance, road tax, warranty, servicing and roadside assistance.

Industry experts also believe the 108 will hold its value exceptionally well, with CAP Monitor releasing a three years/30,000 miles prediction that's up 42% on the outgoing PEUGEOT 107. The result is highly competitive customer pricing. A PEUGEOT 108 Access three-door costs just £89 a month – almost £20 less than the equivalent 107.

Demand for the critically acclaimed PEUGEOT 208 shows no sign of slowing. With YTD sales of more than 10,000 units, it's currently the 5th best-selling retail car in the UK and ahead of some very reputable competition.

Proving particularly popular is the 208 Style, a high-specification special edition which includes desirable standard equipment such as satellite navigation, Cielo panoramic glass roof and rear parking sensors. It's available for only £169 per month. For performance car fans, there's the PEUGEOT 208 GTi, available on JAF for only £259 per month.

The versatile PEUGEOT 2008 offers an attractive combination of high specification, low Recommended Retail Price and competitive 5.9% APR finance packages. As an extra incentive for 64-plate customers, there is a £500 deposit contribution from PEUGEOT on Active trim level models and £650 on Allure and Feline.

The same APR and Deposit Contribution from PEUGEOT is also available on the PEUGEOT 308 and 308 SW. Demand has been strong for both models, leading to a 30% YTD increase in retail sales. The 308 boasts class-leading engines, with CO2 emissions as low as 85g/km and fuel economy of up to 88mpg, giving it considerable appeal in the highly competitive company car segment.

Neil Moscrop, Director of Sales, PEUGEOT UK, commented: "In a retail market that is up almost 14%, our result is very impressive and we're delighted by it. We're looking to continue our retail growth in September and our strategy for retail sales is very simple. We have very competitive list prices that are lower than the sector average for each of our models. We also have a higher specification than the sector average and we try to be transparent in the way we treat our customers."

Avoid The Impact – More Than 1 in 3 Vehicles Could Suffer Brake Failure

THE brakes on more than more than a third of all cars in Europe could fail without warning, according to a new report.

Research carried out for Cosan Lubricants' Mobil Car Care range, at independent service garages across the UK found that 26.5% of UK motorists had defective brake fluid, with nearly one in 10 unintentionally risking their lives every time they drove.

The research tested the quality of brake fluid – the liquid that allows the modern braking system to work. Overall across Europe, 41% of vehicles are operating with sub-standard brake fluid.

Brake fluid absorbs moisture from the atmosphere, which reduces its effectiveness by lowering the boiling point. Once the boiling point dips beneath 180 degrees Celsius, brake fluid becomes all but useless, potentially causing sudden and inexplicable brake failure.

Brake fluid testing expert, Alba Diagnostics, recommend replacing brake fluid when its boiling point reaches 200 degrees Celsius. But, shockingly, some of the vehicles tested had brake fluid that boiled at 130 degrees.

The research found that the age and mileage of a vehicle is not necessarily linked to the quality of its brake fluid. One in seven vehicles with less than 80,000 miles on the clock had fluid showing a boiling point of less than 200 degrees.

The study also revealed a worrying lack of understanding among motorists about how brake fluid functions, with three quarters of workshop customers either admitting they don't know or giving an inadequate account when challenged. More than a third (34%) had not changed their brake fluid for over two years.

The rest of Europe is not much better, with a total of 71% of motorists quizzed unable to explain how brake fluid works.

Mike Bewsey, of Cosan Lubricants, marketeer of Mobil Car Care products in Europe, said: "The poor quality of fluid that controls such a safety-critical vehicle component in the UK is alarming, as is the general lack of understanding about how it works. Unfortunately, once your brake fluid is contaminated, there's no going back and there is a much greater risk that your fluid will boil. This can happen in stop-start conditions, under heavy braking or if you are towing something. It's also very difficult to diagnose as a problem because, after an accident and once the fluid has cooled again, it will appear to be normal."

The research suggests that the 'phantom' nature of brake fluid failure could account for thousands of accidents every year. But, while a visual fluid level check will be carried out during a vehicle's MOT, quality testing is not part of the only vehicle check motorists are legally obliged to carry out.

Bewsey said: "Many drivers mistakenly believe that, if their car has passed its MOT, all of the lubricants and chemicals within it are up to scratch. But testing the boiling point temperature is the only way to check the quality of brake fluid. As that is not part of the MOT, the onus is clearly on motorists to make sure that their car is safe."

Mobil Car Care has added two new premium brake fluid products to its range; Mobil Brake Fluid DOT 4 ESP and Mobil Brake Fluid DOT 5.1 are available from all good motor factors now.

You can avoid the impact of brake failure by asking your technician to check your brake fluid boiling point at your next service.

Twenty Something Men The Most Likely Age Group to be Disqualified From Driving

ACCORDING to new figures obtained by the Institute of Advanced Motorists (IAM), male drivers between the ages of 20 and 30 were the most common group to be disqualified from driving in the 12 months between July 2013 and June 2014.

The figures were supplied by the DVLA following a Freedom of Information request made by the IAM, Britain's leading road safety charity.

The statistics reveal the age groups most commonly carrying out a driving offence that then lead to a subsequent driving ban.

As of 21 June 2014, 92,136 people in total across the UK were disqualified from driving between July 2013 and June 2014. Of those about 62,000 are still disqualified.

The age with the greatest number of disqualified drivers is 25 – 3,748 are serving a driving ban, made up of 3,294 males and 454 females.

Some 31,668 males – just over one-third of the total number of people disqualified from driving during this period – were between the ages of 20 and 30.

Males also outnumber females considerably when it comes to carrying out offences leading to a driving ban. In total 13,481 females were disqualified during this time period – less than 15 per cent of the overall total.

And in the 20-30 age group just 4,333 females were disqualified in the 12 month period, compared to 31,668 males.

While 36,001 people between 20 and 30 were disqualified in the last 12 months, 10,025 people in their fifties and just 3,874 in their sixties were.

The information supplied to the IAM also shows 230 people under 17 and therefore under the legal driving age for the UK were disqualified – including four 12 year olds and four 13 year olds. One 12 year old girl is currently disqualified before her driving career even starts.

Simon Best, chief executive of the Institute of Advanced Motorists, said: "These statistics strongly reflect the research we have already carried out in this area – that young males are very much the at risk group when it comes to driving safety.

"We believe targeting the attitudes of these drivers specifically, through advanced training for example, should be a major part of future road safety campaigning. Reducing offending in this age bracket would dramatically improve safety on our roads for all road users.

"It is also of great concern that youngsters not even eligible to hold a provisional licence are being banned at such young ages. Parents need to be aware their children are putting their own lives and those of others at huge risk by taking the wheel of a car on public roads."

Loaner Lenton leads them home!

with Dave Mutter

SHAVES CROSS is a lovely country race up to Pilsdon Penn and down again, it is five long country miles but has excellent views and is good honest fun.

On a pleasant Saturday evening, the 51st running of this race took place.

The first AVR home, in 4th place overall in 32.52, was newcomer Josh Hobson. Eleanor Wood was 12th overall and 2nd lady in 34.48, winning the Vet cup.

Steve Reynolds, running on home ground, had a good run coming 25th in 39.42.

The Watson brothers sped off a little too quickly and got caught out going up the steep hill but still managed to get very commendable times and positions.

Will was 28th and Chris 29th - even after stopping to help another runner in trouble. We expect to see these boys continue to improve and impress in the future.

One lone AVR runner actually ran the GREAT WEST FELL race on Saturday afternoon.

Robin Carter and James Jackson were going to run but got held up in traffic and did not make the start time. It all was worth it for Tim Lenton though as came 1st in 38:27.

Four AVRs took part in the TOTNES 10K race on Sunday. The run is all off road, along the paths and trails alongside the beautiful River Dart.

The shady woodlands gave the 600 runners some relief from the very hot sunshine.

First AVR home was Graham Newton 82nd in 46:29; he also won the men's over 65 trophy. Coming in next was Robin Britton, 146th in 50:30.

Sue Venn was really pleased with her run as she was six minutes quicker than the Dalwood race; she was 428th in 1:04:30.

Diane Newton also had good cause to celebrate as by finishing 487th in 1:08:46 she sliced over three minutes off her previous best time for this event.

FENITON with Roger Smith
IN the over 60s triples league, the B team maintained their winning ways with the narrowest of victories over MADEIRA C by 37-36, thereby maintaining their position at the top of their league.

The top triple was that of Alan Wood, Roy Carnell and Roger Woolland who won by 16 shots.

After a disappointing loss away to CHARDSTOCK 'A' the previous week, Seaton Over 60s B bounced back with a 47-21, eight point, home win against Axminster.

Top triple was Mike Clarke, Keith Miles and Dave Yardley.

The end of the week was very wet and Seaton's men's PERHAM CUP was rained off.

OTTERY ST MARY with Mike Smith
LAST weekend saw Ottery host the 10th REDFERN TROPHY when six teams from various invited clubs and six Ottery teams battled it out in a round-robin format, playing 24 ends in total.

In a very close finish the team of Terri Ward, Gerry Beighton, Margaret Bright and skip John Ward were runners up with a +20 shot difference. But the winners by just 1 shot with a +21 difference were a team from Lyme Regis.

Tim Wright of Redferns, who have sponsored and supported the club for the last ten years, presented the trophy to the victorious team.

All three Mens Over 60s teams lost this week, the 'A' team to CULM VALE C, the B team to PINCES B and the C team to PINCES D.

In the Ladies NBTL, Ottery lost to HEAVITREE, but in the LOFTL the ladies had a victory against CHAGFORD.

HONITON with Tony Broughton
THE only reports I can give this week are results of the Men's Over 60 Triples matches.

The A Team did well to win one rink and lose the other winning the match by nine shots and gaining six valuable points.

The B Team did not fair well at all losing both rinks and adding a further 26 shots to their deficit, just when they looked like they stood a chance of getting to second spot in Division Four – there are still four games to play though.

The C Team were extremely unlucky to win one rink and lose one and then lose the match by one shot so they only get two points for the single win.

LYME REGIS with Paul Moffitt
THE championship side has a break from league duty for two weeks but, it was business as usual for the other leagues.

There were better fortunes this week with the ladies picking up seven points against West Moors away from home. In Division One the men claimed six points against Dorchester B despite losing on two rinks. The win was down to a very fine 37-8 win from Alan Preece's rink.

Unfortunately, in division 2 the men didn't fare so well and lost all the available ponits to Sherborne 'A'.

In the friendlies it was win two lose one. The loss was against local rivals Bridport where we played mixed rinks when historically it has been an all male affair.

On Friday the Club entertained a team from Page Park, Bristol, the home team of Lyme stalwarts Alan & Pam Weech who were instumental in getting the fixture arranged.

For a while it looked as if the weather was going to be the winner but, eventually the rain ceased, more or less, and we were able to complete 18 ends.

Mollie is key member of victorious UK team

LOCAL schoolgirl Mollie Hansford, 17, has just returned victorious from competing in Australia as a member of the UK Tetrathlon team.

Mollie, who has competed in this event – comprising pistol shooting, swimming, running and riding – since the age of 8, underwent a rigorous selection process and was the youngest member of the team.

The UK Team travelled with other competitors from Ireland, USA, New Zealand and Australia for a tour of the Coral Coast of Western Australia, taking part in numerous activities including surfing, sand boarding kayaking and skydiving.

Returning to Perth for the International competition, Mollie exceeded expectations by scoring well in all 4 phases – including a maximum 500 score on her 2nd shoot target, and a fast, clear show jumping round to secure the UK's only maximum score in that phase.

A strong swim and run ensured a 4th place individually for Mollie and a convincing team win for the UK girls.

Mollie, a member of the Cotley Pony Club, Axe Valley Runners, Bridport Barracudas swimming club and The Tunnel target shooting club would like to thank all those who have helped with her busy training schedule and who have so generously supported her with donations towards her trip.

She now heads to the UK Regional competition and National Tetrathlon Championships later this month before concentrating on Pentathlon over the winter.

Tuesday Mixed
HOW quickly the months go - as this week is was once again time to play for the Chivers Goblets. Greensome Stableford - drawn for playing partners.

This month's winners were Lesley Farley and Ken Wood with 39 pts, 2nd place went to Sue Ritchie and John Frith with 37 pts and in 3rd with 34 pts on c/b were Stephanie Barnes and Max Pipe.

A Mixed Match against East Devon was played at Honiton on Sunday. This year these matches are being organised by Bob and Stephanie Barnes and are always an enjoyable and sociable occasion followed by a meal.

Ten pairings played with Honiton winning 7-1/2 - 2-1/2. Everyone enjoyed the wonderful sunshine with the fairways and greens in excellent condition. Well done to the groundstaff.

Ladies Section
HONITON ladies put their best foot (or rather their best shot) forward this week in a Texas Scramble competition.

The teams of three were made up of one player from each division, so with experience and shots available on all holes, and only the best to count, it was a great opportunity to come in with a fine score.

Diana Gee, Gill Johnson and Julie Eyles did just that as they sailed home under par with a net 71.4 to take first place.

The 2nd and 3rd places were just a whisker apart with Jane Watts, Stephani Barnes and Catherine Hunt just ahead on net 72.4 , while Ann Trayling, Lesley Farley and Margaret Jory were 3rd with a net 72.5.

AXE CLIFF with Helen Kenworthy
THE FOUNDERS TROPHY attracted 30 Seniors on last Friday to compete in very warm summer conditions.

The competition involves medal play for the first nine followed by stableford on the inward half.

The points gained from the stableford half are then deducted from the nett medal score from the outward half.

In a very close finish two players scored 19 and the winner on countback was Tony Strong (9) with Iain Bain (14) having to settle for second place.

Third on his own with a score of 20 was Mike Jamieson (25). There were three 2s, from the winner Tony Strong, Bob Berry and Geoff Hughes.

The Ladies played a STABLEFORD on Wednesday. Result; 1st Caroline Bond, 2nd Margaret Kenchington and 3rd Sandra Walker.
